Personal Skills

I am a person passionate about technology who constantly seeks to learn more about programming and development. I enjoy discussing the subject and keeping up to date with market trends. Despite having no professional experience in the field, I dedicate a lot of time to studying and practicing, always seeking to improve my performance and hone my skills. Additionally, I am a friendly and communicative person who appreciates relaxed conversations and knows how to work in a team. I believe my determination, curiosity, and enthusiasm can contribute to the success of the company, and I am eager to be part of challenging and innovative projects

About Me

My interest in Web development arose during college, when I was studying computer science. I remember it was the peak of Facebook and the end of Orkut as well.

So, self-taught, I started studying and gaining knowledge about the technologies that involve Web development. I went through versions of XHTML, when Flash was still widely used, and it was terrible to adapt pages to smaller monitors. Nowadays, I'm seeking knowledge in frameworks such as React and Angular, and slowly learning about the integration of the Web3 world into web2 pages.
